1. Late one night before the tavern keeper shut his door

A wobbly gentleman came in, his footing was unsure

Mustachioed and handsome and his clothing touched the floor

He was no man at all — he was three kobolds in a trenchcoat

| One's on the bottom, strong as he Two's in the middle, carrying three

| Three's pretending not to be Three kobolds in a trenchcoat

2. One day when a maiden was out on her nightly stroll

She got lost in the forest and was set on by a troll

When in there stepped a gentleman, mustachioed and tall

He was no help at all — 'cause he's three kobolds in a trenchcoat

| (×2) One's on the bottom...

3. Once there was a king who was a scourge upon his land

The citizens all wished him dead, his rule they couldn't stand

One day he just fell flat on the pavement by no hand

He happened to have died next to three kobolds in a trenchcoat

| (×2) One's on the bottom...

And if you're wondering how I sing three-part harmony

When I am just one man without another to be seen

I'm sure the most observant of you already have seen

| That I am not one — I am three kobolds in a trenchcoat
